Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening

By Robert Frost

Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his woods fill up with snow.

My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near
Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.

The woods are lovely, dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

Poetry II

I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud

William Wordsworth

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced; but they
Out-did the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

By William Shakespeare

*This story shall the good man teach his son;
And Crispin Crispian shall ne'er go by,
From this day to the ending of the world,
But we in it shall be remembered-
We few, we happy few, we band of brothers;*

*For he to-day that sheds his blood with me
Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so vile,
This day shall gentle his condition;
And gentlemen in England now-a-bed
Shall think themselves accurs'd they were not

Through the blinds and the windows and bars;

*And high overhead and all moving about,
There were thousands of millions of stars.*

*There ne'er were such thousands of leaves on a

Nor of people in church or the Park,
As the crowds of the stars that looked down upon
me,
And that glittered and winked in the dark.*

*The Dog, and the Plough, and the Hunter, and all,
And the star of the sailor, and Mars,
These shown in the sky, and the pail by the wall
Would be half full of water and stars.*

*They saw me at last, and they chased me with

Sonnet 18

William Shakespeare

*Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate.
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May,
And Summer's lease hath all too short a date:*

*Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimmed;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course,
untrimmed;*

*But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wand'rest in his shade,
When in eternal lines to Time thou grow'st.
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.*

History

The Ottoman Navy and the Holy League's fleet,
In Fifteen-seventy-one at Lepanto did meet.
John of Austria's ships o'er the Turks were victorious,
But elsewhere fierce pirates were growing notorious.
When England and Spain fought to rule the high seas,
Sir Francis Drake beat the Armada with ease.
The battle took place in fifteen-eighty-eight,
To take England's throne was not King Philip's fate.

Escape at Bedtime

by Robert Louis Stevenson

*The lights from the parlour and kitchen shone out
Through the blinds and the windows and bars;
And high overhead and all moving about,
There were thousands of millions of stars.*

*There ne'er were such thousands of leaves on a tree,
Nor of people in church or the Park,
As the crowds of the stars that looked down upon
me,
And that glittered and winked in the dark.*

*The Dog, and the Plough, and the Hunter, and all,
And the star of the sailor, and Mars,
These shown in the sky, and the pail by the wall
Would be half full of water and stars.*

*They saw me at last, and they chased me with cries,
And they soon had me packed into bed;
But the glory kept shining and bright in my eyes,
And the stars going round in my head.*

Sonnet 18

William Shakespeare

*Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate.
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of
May,
And Summer's lease hath all too short a date:*

*Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimmed;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course,
untrimmed;*

*But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wand'rest in his
shade,
When in eternal lines to Time thou grow'st.
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.*

Scripture

I am the vine, you are the branches. Those who abide in me and I in them bear much fruit, because apart from me you can do nothing. John 15:5

I am the good shepherd. I know my own and my own know me, just as the Father knows me and I know the Father. And I lay down my life for the sheep. John 10: 14-15

Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live, and everyone who lives and believes in me with never die. Do you believe this?” John 11:25-26

Ask, and it will be given you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you. For everyone who asks receives, and everyone who searches finds, and for everyone who knocks, the door will be opened. Mt. 7:7-8

Then Jesus told his disciples, “If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it.” Mt. 16:24-25

Unit 10: Looking East: Marco Polo, Ghengis Khan, and Kubla Khan

Genghis Khan led the Mongols, united and cruel;
From the Black Sea to China his warriors did rule.
Marco Polo in Kublai Khan's palace was guest;
He brought Chinese treasure and tales to the West.
For hundreds of years Chinese culture was hidden.
Its emperors stayed in a City Forbidden.

Unit 11: Black Death and the 100 Years War

The Bubonic plague was a deadly disease.
It spread, killing millions, by rats and their fleas.
St. Joan of Arc helped end the Hundred Years War,
To England and France peace at last was restored.

Unit 12: Ottoman Empire, the fall of Constantinople

In fourteen hundred and fifty three,
The Ottoman Turks gained victory.
Constantinople could not be defended,
In Istanbul Roman rule finally ended.

Unit 13: The Renaissance

The Renaissance was a time of great learning.
Men studied the classics and set the earth turning.
Gutenberg's printing press helped news spread fast,
And more people read the great works of the past.
Fourteenth century Florence is where it did start;
A "rebirth" of philosophy, science, and art.

Unit 14: Spain and Portugal

"In fourteen-hundred-and-ninety-two,
Columbus sailed the ocean blue."
On three ships from Isabelle and Ferdinand
He sought the East Indies, but found a new land.
Magellan and Vasco da Gama together
Sailed 'round the whole world in fair and foul weather.

Unit 15: Reformation and the Council of Trent

In fifteen hundred and seventeen,
The ninety-five theses of Luther were seen.
The following spread of the Reformation
Formed Protestant churches in many nations
In answer the Pope called the Council of Trent;
To make doctrine clear was the Council's intent.

Unit 16: Shakespeare and Elizabethan England

King Henry the Eighth broke with Rome for a wife;
For lack of a son, he took Queen Anne's life.
Elizabeth, his heir, to her kingdom was wed,
That no foreign king would rule in her stead.
This era some called England's "golden age;"
The plays of Shakespeare first took the stage.

Unit 17: Naval Battles

The Ottoman Navy and the Holy League's fleet,
In fifteen seventy-one at Lepanto did meet.
John of Austria's ships o'er the Turks were victorious,
But elsewhere fierce pirates were growing notorious.
When England and Spain fought to rule the high seas,
Sir Francis Drake beat the Armada with ease.
The battle took place in fifteen eighty-eight,
To take England's throne was not King Philip's fate.

Unit 18: The New World

Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening

By Robert Frost

Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his woods fill up with snow.

My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near
Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.

The woods are lovely, dark and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

Clouds

By Christina Rossetti

White sheep, white sheep,
On a blue hill,
When the wind stops,
You all stand still.
When the wind blows,
You walk away slow.
White sheep, white sheep,
Where do you go?

Escape at Bedtime

by Robert Louis Stevenson

The lights from the parlour and kitchen shone out
Through the blinds and the windows
and bars;
And high overhead and all moving about,
There were thousands of millions of stars.

There ne'er were such thousands of leaves on a tree,
Nor of people in church or the Park,
As the crowds of the stars that looked down upon me,
And that glittered and winked in the dark.

The Dog, and the Plough, and the Hunter,
and all,
And the star of the sailor, and Mars,
These shown in the sky, and the pail by the wall
Would be half full of water and stars.

They saw me at last, and they chased me
with cries,
And they soon had me packed into bed;
But the glory kept shining and bright in
my eyes,
And the stars going round in my head.

Poetry II

Wandered Lonely as a Cloud

By William Wordsworth

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced; but they
Out-did the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

St. Crispin's Day, From Henry V

By William Shakespeare

This story shall the good man teach his son;
And Crispin Crispian shall ne'er go by,
From this day to the ending of the world,
But we in it shall be remembered—
We few, we happy few, we band of brothers;

For he to-day that sheds his blood with
me
Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so vile,
This day shall gentle his condition;
And gentlemen in England now-a-bed
Shall think themselves accurs'd they were not here,
And hold their manhoods cheap whiles
any speaks
That fought with us upon Saint Crispin's day.

Sonnet 18

William Shakespeare

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day?
Thou art more lovely and more temperate.
Rough winds do shake the darling buds of
May,
And summer'
Sometime too hot the eye of heaven
shines,
And often is his gold complexion dimmed;
And every fair from fair sometime declines,
By chance, or nature's changing course,
untrimmed;

But thy eternal summer shall not fade,
Nor lose possession of that fair thou
ow'st,
Nor shall death brag thou wand'rest in his
shade,
When in eternal lines to Time thou grow'st.
So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see,
So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.
s lease hath all too short a date.
